CARNOT'S BODY LIES IN PARIS.

Remains of the Dead President Informally Received There.

THE WIDOW AGAIN OVERCOME

Room at the Palace Elysee Turned Into a Mortuary Chapel.

MORE FACTS ABOUT SANTO.

He Thought He'd Be Braver Than Anarchist Henry on the Scaffold.

(By Associated Press.)

PARIS, June 26.—The funeral train bearing the remains of M. Sadi-Carnot, the late President of the French Republic, who was fatally stabbed in his carriage by Cesario Santo, an Italian anarchist, while driving through the streets of Lyons on Sunday night, arrived here at 3:10 A. M. to-day.

The Prefect of the Seine, M. Poubelle, and his staff; the Prefect of Police, M. Loez, and his staff; the railroad officials and Gen. Saussier, the Military Governor of Paris, with his staff, met the body at the station, which was heavily draped with crepe and other emblems of mourning.

The ceremonies at the railroad terminus were private and consisted only in the formal transfer of the remains to the Prefect of the Seine.

The casket was placed in a hearse in the presence of the officials mentioned and the officers of the late President's Military Household, headed by Gen. Borius, Chief of the Military Household; Capt. Jaureguerry and Col. Chamoin.

The hearse was then escorted to the Elysee Palace, followed by five carriages, including a landau, which was occupied by the widow, Mme. Carnot, and her three sons.

In spite of the early hour and the fact that the time the body was to arrive was not generally known, a crowd composed of several thousand people had gathered about the railroad station. Every person present stood with uncovered heads until the funeral cortege passed by.

Upon arriving at the Elysee Palace the hearse and its accompanying carriages were admitted into the grounds, after which the gates were closed.

At the palace the body was received by the officers of the late President's Civil Household and was conveyed to one of the reception rooms which had previously been converted into a mortuary chapel, hung with black cloth and having a catafalque in its centre upon which, in silver letters, was the initial "S" (Carnot) over the letters "R. P." (Republican France).

The widow was so overcome with emotion when the casket was placed in the mortuary chapel that she was compelled to retire to a private room, where her sons did their utmost to console her.

The Cabinet Ministers were not at the station, nor were they present when the body arrived at the Elysee.

It is now said to be established that Santo lived for some time in the Rue Traversiere, this city, occupying a room in the house of an Italian wine-dealer. The assassin's name was registered at the Labor Exchange.

The feeling against Italians in particular and foreigners in general, aroused by the assassination of the President, has caused several factories in the suburbs of this city to discharge all foreign hands.

It is believed, however, that when the sympathetic action of the King of Italy, the Italian Chambers and Premier Crispi becomes more generally known throughout France, the feeling against Italy will be greatly softened.

In regard to the political situation, there is little change this morning. Several members of the Chamber of Deputies have asked Premier Dupuy if he is a candidate for the Presidency, and he has replied that his candidature has been too freely mentioned for months past for him not to come forward during the present critical state in the affairs of France.

M. Dupuy added that he felt encouraged by the thought that the functionary required more devotion than ambition to seek an honor which was fraught with such weighty responsibilities.

Premier Dupuy presided this morning at a Cabinet Council called to determine upon the arrangements for the funeral of the late President.

The body is now guarded by four cadets from the Military School of St. Cyr and will shortly be placed upon a catafalque in the courtyard of the Elysee. There the remains will lie in state beneath a canopy, until Sunday, when they will be escorted, with much ceremony, to the Pantheon, in order that they may be placed beside the re-

HILL'S NEW ATTACK.

Would Exempt State, County and City Bonds from Income Tax.

Republicans Join Him in His Effort to That End.

Proposed Amendment Defeated, 23 to 30, in the Senate.

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, June 26.—With the thermometer standing at 83 degrees in the Senate Chamber at 10 o'clock to-day the Senate entered upon the thirtieth week of the tariff debate. At the opening of the session, Mr. Allen (Pop. Neb.) made another ineffectual attempt to secure consideration for his resolution directing the Secretary of the Treasury to inform the Senate of the total number of persons engaged in protected industries, whose wages might be affected by tariff legislation.

Mr. Gallinger (Rep., N. H.) objected, and Mr. Morrill (Rep., Vt.) moved to refer it to the Finance Committee. Mr. Allen gave notice that, as long as the resolution remained unacted upon, he would object to all legislation by unanimous consent. Mr. Morrill's motion was defeated by a vote of 16 to 27.

At 10:30 the Senate resumed the consideration of the income tax provisions of the tariff bill.

Mr. Hill withdrew the amendment he offered on Saturday to strike out the provision exempting the interest on United States bonds from the operation of the tax. Mr. Hill said his object in offering the amendment was to call the attention of the country to the fact that $25,000,000 of property in Government bonds was necessary to exempt the operation of the income tax, and that the law, although the ostensible purpose of the amendment was to reach wealth and equalize taxation, there was an enormous investment of capital which the income tax could not reach.

Mr. Hill then moved to exempt State, county and municipal bonds. He argued that the United States Constitution gave Federal Government would be a direct attack upon the administration of the States. If the Federal Government had the right to diminish the value of State bonds and securities, it had the right to destroy them.

Aside from the question of the exercise of the United States power over the States, which Senators represented that that floor and upon which this tax bore heavily, Mr. Hill thought the States should have the right to issue bonds without being subject to Federal taxation.

Mr. Vest thought the exemption proposed from that with reference to United States bonds. It was no benefit to the States or municipalities to exempt their bonds. The bonds were sold in the open market. They went into the hands of the people, and should be subject to taxation.

Mr. Hill contended that Mr. Vest proposed would add nothing to the constitutional rights of the States, and would regard to the taxation of their bonds. The bonds were sold in the open market. They went into the hands of the people, and should be subject to taxation.

MR. EDISON IS WORSE

Got Up at Noon To-day, but Suffered a Relapse.

Dr. Fewsmith Puzzled, but Says There is No Danger.

The Great Inventor Injured by the Collapse of a Chair.

(Special to The Evening World.)

NEWARK, N. J., June 26.—At noon to-day Thomas A. Edison was worse than he has been since the peculiar accident he met with last Thursday at Ogden.

Dr. Joseph Fewsmith, of Newark, visited him early this morning, at which time the inventor seemed better and got up and dressed. Shortly before noon he suffered a relapse and the doctor was again sent for.

THOMAS A. EDISON.

Mr. Edison was sitting on the porch of his boarding-house at Ogden Thursday evening when the back of the chair gave way and he fell down four steps. He thought nothing of the matter at the time, but Saturday he began to complain of pains in the side and back. He reached home Sunday night quite ill and was put to bed.

His case puzzled the physicians. There was not a bruise on his body. Mr. Edison remained in bed until this morning, when Dr. Fewsmith called again and gave him permission to get up. The exertion was too much for him, and by noon he was in a serious condition.

Dr. Fewsmith stated later that he did not think the accident had anything to do with Mr. Edison's illness. He was suffering from an enteric trouble produced probably by the intense heat of the last week. The heat during the day in Ogden was severe, while the evenings were chilly, and he thought the sudden change was more than Edison's constitution could stand. He apprehended no danger, however.

At 1 o'clock Edison was resting quietly. Mrs. Edison and members of the family are constantly with him. A guard is stationed at the gate to prevent carriages from entering, as the noise of wheels upon the gravel drive disturbs the patient.

TO DIVE FOR THE BODIES.

"Evening World" Corps Still Searching for the Nicol's Ill-Fated Victims.

Another Body Identified.

THE MISSING LIST INCREASING.

Four Bodies Recovered and Over Thirty Passengers Still Unaccounted For.

Went on its errand of mercy to the living as well as to the dead. "The Evening World" tug assistance started out again this morning to recover the bodies of the unfortunate victims of the Herring Fishing Club's excursion of Sunday last.

According to the verified list there are at present over thirty human beings missing, all presumably having found a watery grave after the ill-fated Nicol overturned in the squall. The families of the missing men and boys are heartbroken. Scarcely an hour passes but many of them beseege the offices of "The Evening World" asking for news of their relatives. Hope that they could by any possibility have escaped death has been abandoned. All these want now—and it is the utmost they expect—is to have the bodies taken from the water and given a last resting-place in the cemetery.

The same purpose here is being pursued, threatened almost, in order that a proper search should be made for the victims, but until "The Evening World" undertook the task not a hand was lifted, not an ounce of steam was wasted in the search.

Want to Bury Their Dead.
"We want to bury our dead," is the cry which goes up unceasingly, but the bodies of the dead and those who are held, in some part, at least, responsible by the families of the victims, have declared that nothing could be done.

"Wait until the sea gives up its dead," has been the answer, which has added to the misery and grief of the heartbroken relatives. To wait for weeks, months, and perhaps years, at the expense of the families of the victims, has been declared that nothing could be done.

Bodies have remained as long as a year in the water, and then, when found, even the clothing, which might have led to their identification, had disappeared.

In the disastrous storms of last summer, when several fishing smacks went down with all their crews on board, some of the bodies were not recovered until weeks after. Many of them have not been recovered yet. The bodies of the victims of the Herring Fishing Club's excursion of Sunday last, however, have been asked to wait, when they and divers should have been recovered within a few hours after the disaster.

The Associated Press learned today that the bodies must not be taken out of the water until they are positively identified. The bodies must not be taken out of the water until they are positively identified. The bodies must not be taken out of the water until they are positively identified.

BELATED COURAGE.

Moisture's High Percentage Increases Discomfort.

More Warmth Coming, but Southerly Winds May Help Some.

Hourly Heat Record.

The hottest previous June 26 was in 1876, when the temperature reached 92 degrees.

A fog, which for density and duration presented an unusual phenomenon for this season of the year, settled upon the neighboring Atlantic coast this morning, and was not wholly dissipated until near noon.

Traffic on both rivers and the harbor was retarded by whistles alone, and the blazes, toots, yelps and k-y's that rose from the water blended in one grand Wagnerian paean to the glory of a cautious commerce, that must have been a surprise to even the Sargasso-sea voyagers, who have some pretty large views of the Atlantic.

In the last hours of the night the light of Sandy Hook was as far from the anxious eye of the home-bound skipper in the office as the light of "90" of the light the coast looked out in the distance. The fog came in the midst of a heavy rain, and the water was as black as ink. The fog was as thick as the water, and the water was as black as ink. ## FIFTH AVENUE OPEN.

Ordinance to Make the Thoroughfare Exclusive Defeated.

23 to 1 the Vote in the Board of Aldermen.

Alderman Rinn Comes to the Defense of the Milk Wagon.

(By Associated Press.)

By a vote of 23 to 1 the Board of Aldermen today decided not to make Fifth avenue an exclusive thoroughfare for private vehicles.

The ordinance introduced by Alderman Morgan to exclude trucks from Fifth avenue, between Twenty-fifth and Fifty-ninth streets, from June 1 to Oct. 1, during the hours of 2 and 7 P. M., was reported adversely by the Law Committee to whom it had been referred.

The report was signed by Alderman Oakley, Chairman; S. W. Smith, Law Committee; and Scott, Alderman Morgan, the fifth member of the Committee asked for the privilege of making a minority report, which was denied on the ground that he failed to prepare it.

Alderman Rinn set the pace by making a speech in which he declared that the ordinance was a "stupid" one, and that it was "a waste of time and money to make Fifth avenue an exclusive thoroughfare for private vehicles."

Alderman Morgan asked to have the ordinance referred to a committee on the subject, and was granted the request.

WARD'S ISLAND HORRORS.

Ex-Patient Bradley Tells of Cruelty and Filth.

A Former Attendant Corroborates His Testimony.

The State Lunacy Commission resumed its investigations into the condition of the insane poor on Ward's and Blackwell's islands at 10 A. M. to-day, at the Park Avenue Hotel.

Henry P. Bradley, of 154 Broadway, was the first witness. He said he was the manager of a grocery in November, 1891, became intoxicated and was sent to Bellevue Hospital. He remained in the hospital for about three days, and was then transferred to Ward's Island on the commitment of Dr. Douglas. Witness was confined in ward 15, where there were about eighty patients, and their attendants, during the day, and one at night. Witness said the Indian meal used was worth about one and a half cents a pound; the coffee was only roasted rye, worth about 60 cents a bushel; the fish was always bad, and he never saw a potato while he was there, from November, 1891, until March, 1892.

Witness had seen four powerful attendants drag a patient by the arms and legs and lift him up as high as they could and then drop him violently upon the hard floor four times in succession. Witness could only recall the names of the attendants who performed this act of brutality. They are Wilson and O'Connell.

On another occasion a colored patient named Tom, of 100 West 12th street, was taken to the hospital for being drunk and was confined in ward 15. Witness said that the attendants were very cruel to the patients, and that they were very filthy.

Witness complained to an attendant that he was being treated badly, and that he was being treated badly. The attendant replied that he was being treated badly, and that he was being treated badly.

STAGER CALLED A PERJURER.

Pleasantly Informed that the Committee Believed He Had Sworn to Untruths.

(By Associated Press.)

When the Lexow Police Investigating Committee resumed its work this morning in the Superior Court after a three days' rest there was every prospect of a lively day's session. Nobody knew exactly what was coming, but there were rumors floating about and a general air of expectancy prevailed.

One of the earliest comers this morning was ex-Judge Sutherland, about whose status as counsel to the Committee there has been so much talk. This morning Mr. Sutherland was quoted in an interview as saying:

"Mr. Goff may be a good lawyer, so as local matters are concerned, but he will find out that I am counsel for the Senate Committee, and that he or any other man can control the investigation. I alone represent the Committee as counsel."

The only thing that Mr. Sutherland has done since Mr. Goff began his work with the Committee has been to take copious notes and make out the testimony of the members of the Committee.

"Now that's ridiculous," he said. "I never made any such remark at all. You may deny it as strongly as you please."

"But how about the fact that you said you would prepare the report of the Committee?" he was asked.

"I cannot say anything about that," he replied. "I would not proper for me to do so. If you want any information upon that point you must inquire of the members of the Committee."

Lexow's Banquet.
Chairman Lexow's banquet to his colleagues at his home at Nyack this evening was also the subject of much gossip. The story was revived that Mr. Sutherland had been invited and that Mr. Goff had been left out.

"I haven't been invited," said Mr. Sutherland this morning. "And I don't expect to go. So I don't think there is very much in that story. I understood it was just a little informal invitation extended by the committee to his associates, and did not suppose it had any significance at all."

In the proceedings this morning was the appearance of Lawyer Henry Friend, of the firm of Friend & Co., who had been invited to the hearing. Just as Mr. Nicol and ex-Judge Ransom asked the questions to look out for the interests of the Police Committee, Mr. Friend represents all the interests of the Police Committee.

Mr. Friend's appearance was very much surprised when he learned that he was to have a new associate, but he welcomed Mr. Friend's appearance.

COXEYITE SWEETLAND FREE.

In Jail Since May 8 for Marching His Army in the Streets.

(By Associated Press.)

Gen. George Coxe Sweetland was taken from the Tombs this noon and arraigned before Judge Martine, in the court of General Sessions, and discharged from custody.

Sweetland was arrested on May 8, charged with marching his army in the streets here without a permit. He refused to give bail on the ground that his army consisted of his own men, and he was not a soldier, and voluntarily went to jail.

Mr. Martine, in discharging the Coxeite, said he had probably been sufficiently punished for the misdemeanor.

Grand Jury Throws Out the Bill for Manslaughter.

(By Associated Press.)

LONDON, June 26.—The Old Bailey to-day the Grand Jury threw out the bill for manslaughter found against Gen. John Hewston, of California, by a coroner's jury on June 5, on the charge of having caused the death of George Burton, a circus musician, in Acton street, Gray's Inn road, on May 25, last, by poking the point of an umbrella into the man's left eye.

The coroner's jury in returning its verdict indicated it with a rider to the effect that in the opinion of the jurymen the general did not intend to inflict a fatal injury upon Burton.

The general's defense was that he was justified by a companion of Burton, and that he raised his umbrella in self defense when the deceased was upon the point of striking him with a camp-stool.
